ASH NZ

ASH NZ is the pre-eminent smokefree lobby group in NZ. As its director, I provide support to the board, head day to day operations and oversee strategy, communications and stakeholder engagement.

Executive Director

Arbitrators' and Mediators' Institute of New Zealand (AMINZ)

May 2008 – August 2019

AMINZ is New Zealand's largest professional organisation for people working in dispute resolution. It credentials dispute resolvers, advocates for best practice dispute resolution, serves as a central information point on dispute resolution and is a major provider of education. It seeks to grow NZ as a centre of international dispute resolution.

Governance

- Executive Director participating in the governing board
- Chaired various working groups and committees
- Provided majority of all board reports

Strategic Development

- Supported the Board to strategise and plan
- Responsibility to ensure Board strategies implemented
- Oversaw membership growth of over 150%
- Introduced Māori initiatives which have ensured these are now a priority
- Led diversity and inclusion initiatives including:
 - Rebranding
 - The signing of a gender diversity pledge which instituted accountability for the pledge
 - Educational initiatives including the delivery of a seminar at Parliament on the resolution of indigenous disputes
- AMINZ International – initiated a long-term strategy to make New Zealand a centre for international commercial dispute resolution, including:
 - Secured two lots of amendments to the Arbitration Act 1996 to position New Zealand as a more attractive arbitration destination
 - Investigation and promotion of climate change dispute resolution leadership
 - Numerous articles in the national and international press to promote New Zealand and New Zealanders
- Increased work for members, including:
 - Legislative reform to make arbitral appointments instead of the High Court and ensured AMINZ appointed to that role
 - Negotiated, planned and delivered an independent mediation service for EQC
 - Established new lists of dispute resolvers and successfully took them to market
- Developed a comprehensive education programme with new products and a revamped annual conference

Administration and Management

- 2015 – highly commended in the AUT Excellence in Business Support Awards for the excellent administration of the Institute
- Utilised the expertise of staff and members to deliver a wide range of projects
- Ensured the Institute delivered within budget
- Delivered a new database and website, within budget and time-frames

- Appointed disputes resolvers pursuant to statutes and agreements
 - Administered the AMINZ Complaints Service
 - Managed dispute resolution schemes, notably the EQC Mediation Service and the National Panel of Conciliators
- Advocacy and Promotion
- Successfully lobbied, particularly Government, for the increased use of dispute resolution, including for:
 - Family disputes
 - Farm debt
 - Construction disputes
 - Consequences of disasters, especially earthquakes
 - Te Ture Whenua Māori Bill, which we opposed as unfair to Māori
 - Positioned AMINZ as the voice of dispute resolution in New Zealand and as a credible voice internationally
 - Interviewed by Kathryn Ryan, Nine to Noon, Radio NZ on the Ministerial Review of the Human Rights Commission by Judge Coral Shaw, 19 May 2018
 - Regularly advocated in the national press to change the dialogue, including:
 - The non-violent resolution of disputes – RadioLive, 5 December 2018
 - Negotiating neighbourhood disputes – The Project, 1 August 2018
 - NZ could be an international arbitration centre – Newsroom, 4 May 2018
 - Bullying and harassment in the health sector – Newsroom, 12 December 2017
 - Arbitration of family disputes – NZHerald, 7 March 2017
